

Daylight Savings Time Patch

Beginning in 2007, daylight saving time (DST) will be extended in the United States. DST will start on March 11, 2007, which is three weeks earlier than usual, and it will end on November 4, 2007, which is one week later than usual. This results in a new DST period that is four weeks longer than in previous years. Unless certain updates are applied to your computer, the time zone settings for your computer's system clock may be incorrect during this four-week period.

PLEASE NOTE

This patch will have to be run on each computer in your office under an administrator account. If you receive a message that the patch has already been installed, your computer may have already received the update via windows update.

Instructions for applying the Daylight Savings Time Patch

Click on the file below for the version of windows you are running
When it asks if you would like to save or run the file chose to run the file.
(You may also save the file if needed for applying to other computers)
You may receive a warning that the publisher is unknown, this is normal and select run.
This will bring you to the intelliadmin
Make sure that install daylight savings fix is selected and click apply
You will receive a message saying the patch has been applied
Close the program and the DST patch has been successfully applied.

If your operating system is Windows 95, 98, or ME

Click here

If your operating system is Windows NT, 2000, XP, 2000 Server or 2003 server

Click Here